Forecast for Thursday 24 Sep 2020

Weather: Clear skies through the early hours will give way to thicker cloud spreading northwards. A bright, chilly start but spells of rain will soon push northwards from mid-morning, driven in on fresh to strong easterly winds. Therefore, west facing slopes across the Western Fells likely seeing the best of the shelter. Rain falling as sleet on summits. Skies will clear from the north from late afternoon.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 80% quickly falling to 10% from mid to late morning as cloud descends quite widely to 600-700m.

Visibility: Very good initially, deteriorating to several kilometres at modest height in rain and several hundred meters in summit fog and sleet.
